Jack Dempsey Is Sued For $100,000

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 23.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, was sued for $100,000 here today by Alexander Panagiotis, proprietor of a chain of vaudeville theaters, who alleged breach of contract for stage appearances.

Panagiotis alleged that Dempsey, after filling an engagement in Los Angeles, refused to continue his tour, which was to have been for 20 weeks more, but left for the east and in doing so he had lost the profits he said he would have received had Dempsey fulfilled his alleged contract, and $40,000 as publicity which he declared the champion's appearance at his theatre would have produced.

Patients To Occupy Hilltop Next Week

Building Committee Finds Structure on Understanding of Few Minor Adjustments.

It is expected that the patients at Hilltop Sanitarium will move into the new completed and handsome sanitarium building during the course of the coming week. The building committee a few days ago went over the structure, and finding that a few minor adjustments would be made, will recommend formal acceptance by the directors of the Anti-Tuberculosis League within the next few days.

It was learned, however, today that there has been some slight difficulty in raising the money for the final payment of the building, and a number of outstanding pledge cards which had not been redeemed with the subscriptions, but a committee is engaged in securing these amounts, and it is expected that the sum, which amounts to about $10,000, will be raised before long. Of this amount five thousand dollars is needed as the final payment for the building upon its formal acceptance and it is understood that this sum has about been raised as result of the activity during the past few days of the soliciting committee. The other money when raised will be used in equipping the building.

In the meantime such furniture and equipment as already belongs to the sanitarium will be used until the various associations who have undertaken to furnish certain rooms complete the task.

In addition to the handsome gift of a wireless receiving apparatus made possible through the generosity of a group of young people associated with Mount Vernon church, a valuable donation is anticipated. This is to be an X-ray outfit, especially manufactured for taking views to show the condition of lungs of the various patients. This donation, it is understood, is to be the generous offer of John R. Harvie, and part of the plan is to establish a memorial to his father, the late Dr. Lewis L. Harvie, a widely known physician of this city.

New Professional For the Golf Club

R. M. Hayes, of Southern Pines, has been appointed by the directors of the Danville Golf Club as the professional who will serve the local organization during the present year. He will be here between April 1st and 15th, at which time a new impetus will be given to the club, which is growing in membership. Mr. Hayes succeeds W. M. Mackey, who has gone as professional with the Birmingham Country Club of Detroit.

Mr. Hayes is a well known player, and was assistant last year to Emmet French, captain of the American professional team which went over to England last year where Jock Hutchinson won honors.

The directors of the club have taken steps to have the golf course materially improved, and it is hoped to add three holes to the second line. One of the most encouraging signs at the club is the growing interest among the women members of the club, who are playing with greatest frequency and in greater numbers.

Tomorrow night will be held the usual weekly dance at the Golf Club from 9 to midnight.

POLICE DOCKET SHORT

Dry Agent Poses As Rich Tourist

MIAMI, March 23.—A wealthy and thirsty tourist appeared in Miami in quest of some person who could restock his depleted wine cellar with say, about a hundred cases of good liquor.

The wealthy tourist was E. B. Henson, one of the astute lieutenants of Col. L. G. Nutt, chief prohibition enforcement agent for Florida.

The wealthy tourist discovered the person after due inquiry and was informed that if he put up the cash he could have the liquor. And as a guarantee that the liquor would be delivered he had only to sign over the money to the vice president of the Miami National bank, who would act as stakeholder in the deal.

That was the story told at the hearing in the case of C. M. Clayton, wall thumper, and his co-defendants Wilbur Phelps and Thomas Lewis, who are charged with conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

Evidence was introduced to show that Henson, the agent with Lewis and Phelps, went to the Miami National Bank, informed Clayton of their purpose, and asked him to act as trustee for the money involved in the deal. Clayton accepted $3,750 from Henson for the prohibition officers declared.

Upon the arrival of the hundred cases, the liquor was confiscated and the three men arrested.

Rearrest Negro As Victim Dies

Henry Vaden in Jail Following
Death of Former Deputy Sheriff He Shot.

Henry Lee Vaden, a negro of Halifax county, who two weeks ago shot and wounded Albert L. Vaughan, a former deputy sheriff, was rearrested yesterday near South Boston on the charge of murdering the man. Vaden succumbed several days ago from the wound inflicted and Vaden, who had been away, returned only yesterday whereupon he was apprehended and jailed, charged with murder.

The case was sent to the grand jury. It is understood that after Vaughan and Vaughan appears to have passed words over rights to a certain piece of property and the negro eventually shot Vaughan, the bullet entering the breast, penetrating the lung and lodging in the back.

Vaden was arrested and was bailed at first for $500, but some dissatisfaction was expressed over this amount he was rearrested and the bond was doubled. Vaden made the bond and then left the South Boston neighborhood, during which time Vaughan died.

S. C. Town Closes Down Schools

(By The Associated Press.)
FOUNTAIN INN, S. C., March 24.—Public schools here were closed today on account of an epidemic of influenza. The majority of the cases reported are mild.

The action grew out of the burning of Crane's automobile in North Danville, Christmas Eve, 1920, when an employee of R. R. Rodgers sought to borrow some gasoline. A match was struck, and the suit for damages came later.

J. W. Floyd, who has been ill with influenza, is able to be out again.

Re-Arrest Negro For Killing In Halifax County

Armistead Lacy, a negro who was arrested as a suspect about two weeks ago in connection with the brutal murder of Maxie Brooks, a South Boston negro, has been rearrested and is in jail at Halifax, with what the county authorities claim to be a web of circumstantial evidence around him.

The woman was shot in the breast and her body was later carried to the railway track, where it was fearfully mangled by passing trains, the effort being made to cover up the murder. Lacy, who was said to have been an intimate of the negro, was detained for a few days, but was apparently able to satisfy the authorities of his guiltlessness and he was set free.

Sheriff Luther Rice detailed Deputy J. M. Hatcher to the case and he shadowed Lacy and succeeded in gathering a mass of evidence which was considered sufficient to justify the man's rearrest.

Hold Conference On Shooting Case

Counsel for William E. Cunningham and the commonwealth's attorney held a conference today relative to the course which will be pursued in disposing of a charge of felonious assault against the accused, who several days ago slightly wounded his wife. Mrs. Cunningham's condition, it was agreed on both sides, was no means serious and the immediate purpose of the conference, it is understood, was to determine whether or not bail would be allowed.

Mr. Carter is understood to have expressed the view that bail should not be granted and that he would oppose release on bond, pending a disposition of the case. It could not be learned whether or not the charge would be pressed on its merits, or whether lunacy proceedings would be instituted. If the trial of the case on its merits is decided upon, it is understood that a preliminary hearing will be waived by the defense, and the case thus placed automatically before the grand jury, which will meet in May. Counsel for the accused is said to have indicated to the state official that he would press for an examination of the mentality of the accused, which in the light of the attack and the letters subsequently found, have raised this issue.

Mrs. Cunningham's brother, who came here from New York on Saturday, has returned to his home.

Judge Christian Addresses Dinners

Class Twenty of Mount Vernon church held their long-planned supper, which was the reward for the successful team in the recent member getting contest. Two hundred men were present and enjoyed an appetizing and well-served supper at the hands of the Ladies' Auxiliary in the Sunday school room.

Attorney General John R. Saunders, who was to have been the speaker of the evening, wired here during the morning, saying that he would prevent his coming. It had been planned to entertain Mr. Saunders at lunch during the afternoon, and the unexpected telegram necessitated some quick action. Judge Frank Christian was reached in Lynchburg by long distance telephone, and he consented to come and he delivered an unprepared address which was greatly enjoyed, and which contained many salient points of the jurist's philosophy. There was a musical programme and some impromptu talks heard during the evening.

Y. M. B. C. Takes Up Co-Operative Sales

M. O. Wilson, secretary of the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, is here today at the request of the executive committee of the Young Men's Business Club to discuss with them the proposed method of marketing tobacco on the co-operative plan. The Young Men's Business Club is reported to be eager to iron out differences, if any, in the local leaf tobacco situation and is desirous that Danville as a community profit by the new organization. It is largely for the purpose of going over the tobacco situation and the co-operative plan. The meeting was extended to him. The meeting, it was said, would be an executive one, after which the committee would ponder over the matter and reach some decision.

Small Amount Was Sold Today

The tobacco sale arranged for today by some of the buyers and the warehousemen lasted for about an hour and a quarter, a comparatively small amount of leaf being disposed of. The larger buying corporations were not represented on the market, it is said. While the amount sold added to the season's total, brings Danville's record over the 34 million pound mark, it was understood this morning that the sale could not be counted in with the season's activities, as it did not come within the season's limit, and it was purely the result of an amicable agreement among the buyers and the warehousemen and was not ordained by the Board of Trade.

Assyrian Is Caught With Fifty Gallons

(Special to The Bee.)
ROCKY MOUNT, Va., March 24.—Local police officers yesterday arrested Joe Davis, an Assyrian, of Roanoke, who was found carrying 50 gallons of liquor in a touring car. The arrest was followed by the imposition of a $250 fine, the car being turned over to the state authorities.

Four Killed By Cloudburst

Intangibles Tax Bill Is Signed By Gov. Trinkle

RICHMOND, March 23.—Governor Trinkle has signed the bill reducing the rate of taxation on the first class of intangibles from $1.10 to 55 cents. This reduction was recommended by the governor in his inaugural address. Under the new law if such property is omitted from taxation and is afterwards discovered a penalty of 100 per cent. will be added to the taxes. No owner of bonds, notes or other evidence of debt will be allowed to institute a suit for the collection of the same, unless he alleges that the bonds, notes or other evidence of debt upon which he is suing have been reported for taxation and assessed for each and every year of which he is the owner, and no judgment rendered in such a suit will be valid unless it recites that such allegation was made.

Other bills signed by Governor Trinkle include those appropriating $1,000 to the Maury Association for the placing of a market and tablet to the memory of Commodore Maury at Gosport in Rockbridge county; re-establishing the state highway system; appropriating $15,000 for entertaining the United Confederate Veterans in Richmond in June and appropriating $3,000 to aid in entertaining veterans at the unveiling of statues; to protect landlords against removal of crops by tenants until rents and advances are paid; to abolish local boards of review; to fix the fees and limit the compensation of justices of the peace.

Clean-Up and Paint-Up Drive Planned Here

The Young Men's Business Club is making plans to promote a "Paint-Up and Clean-Up" campaign during the week of April 17 to 22, inclusive, at which time it is hoped that the entire city will be keyed up to the greatest pitch of enthusiasm in the removal of "eye-sores" and take part in the general cleaning-up. Special attention will be given to the appearance of the business section of the city, also the part of the city through which the railroad passes, as the railroad district is the only part of Danville which is seen by thousands of travelling people and it is the intention to make the very best impression. Every organization in the city is invited to co-operate in this undertaking.

Bonus Bill Made Ready For Senate

Divorce Probe Report Ready

ALEXANDRIA, March 23.—After having struggled along for more than two months in its investigation of the divorce situation here the special committee of seven of the Alexandria Bar association will submit its report to the Alexandria Bar association for ratification Saturday afternoon.

Announcement to this effect has just been made by the committee. Another meeting of the special committee was held tonight to make final arrangements for the submission of the report. The members by agreement decided not to divulge the nature of the report until it has been submitted and there is considerable speculation as to just what the report will be, not only on the part of lawyers, but citizens in general, including others than residents of Alexandria.

This report will end the divorce probe as far as the Bar association is concerned. However, Judge Robinson Monday ordered a special grand jury to meet March 27 for the purpose of probing the divorce situation here.

The special committee that has been engaged in the task of investigating the divorce situation is composed of Howard W. Smith, chairman, J. Randall Cason, Jr., secretary, Judge L. C. Barley, Gardner L. Boothe, Judge C. E. Nicoll, Judge J. K. M. Norton and C. Keith Carlin.

(By The Associated Press.)

Kisses Of Mayor And Oregon Gov. For Mary Garden

PORTLAND, Ore., March 23.—Mary Garden, here, at the head of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, says Portland is the first city to which she ever has been welcomed with kisses from both the governor and the mayor.

Upon arrival of Miss Garden's special train yesterday, a reception committee and thousands of other persons awaited her at the station. When Mary Garden, accompanied by Mayor George L. Baker rushed forward and kissed her. Governor Ben Olcott, who was next in line, looked a little doubtful as to just what course to pursue.

"Go on, governor, you're next!" yelled the crowd, and the governor did his duty as he saw it.

Miss Garden, who burst into tears, but soon explained that they were tears of joy as so fine a reception.

—Mrs. G. W. Floyd, who has been quite sick with influenza, is improving.

W. J. Evens Will Be Sen- tenced Monday to Die in the Electric Chair.

NEW YORK, March 23.—William J. Evans, 33, was convicted of murder in the first degree yesterday before Judge Martin, in Brooklyn, for the killing in a hold-up of Paul J. Gilman. The murder occurred in the latter's drug store, on Court street, just four weeks ago today, Feb. 23. Judge Martin, who sentenced Evans to death, told him that he could have found no other verdict.

Evans' sister fainting when the verdict was announced. His younger brother and two other youths are awaiting trial on charges of participation in the murder.

Because he is a victim of tuberculosis, his comrades in crime said after their arrest, Evans was chosen to carry the pistol and do the shooting. If he "went to the chair it would not make so much difference, because he was going to die soon anyway," was his explanation.

Gilman's death was a mystery for a day. He was shot and killed in the prescription room behind his store at 10 o'clock at night, with Court street full of people. Arrest of other hold-up men led to the capture of Evans, telling them that they could have found no other verdict.

He will be sentenced to death Monday. The jury deliberated two hours.

He alighted on some raised object on the ground and his foot was given a sudden twist. Two Harnsberger Stores in the City

Danville is to have two Harnsberger stores, one is known as Harnsberger, Inc. the other will be known as Harnsberger Department Stores. Just what complication that near duplication of names will result in is problematical. A man has a right to use his own name in any business enterprise and just as long as the names of the two concerns are not identical there will be no legal complications. That is it has been ruled by the court that a man may use his own name in his business so long as no unfair advantage is taken of a competitor.

The chief complication in Danville will result from confusion among buyers, who, wanting to deal with one concern will find that they are buying from the other. Unless some distinctive methods of advertising are developed by one of the firms, the confusion and the confusion drawn are made very clear confusion is bound to result.

The old firm of Harnsberger's Inc. expects to do a great deal of advertising and have engaged the services of an experienced man to obtain for them a place in the sun. This man is William R. Myers who will also manage the shoe department of the store and act as assistant merchandising manager.

Mr. Myers' reputation as an advertising and merchandising man is well known in the South and East. Last year he was instructor in the Georgia School of Technology, of Atlanta, Ga. Before going to the school, Mr. Myers was service manager of the Baltimore News, having previously been advertising manager for a national advertising firm in the middle West.

Mr. Myers first came into national prominence last year when speaking before the Atlanta Advertising Club he came out publicly with the statement that the newspapers would gradually supplant the magazines as the national advertising media. His address was copied by hundreds of the daily papers in the country.

He later published a booklet on newspaper advertising which was used by a large number of newspapers. His success at Harnsberger's will be watched with interest.

YARBOROUGH'S BAND HERE AT EXPOSITION

Yarborough's Royal Hussar Band, the organization that played the music at the fifth National Coin Exposition, and many other fairs and festivals, will be one of the big attractions at the Piedmont Exposition here April 1 to 8.

Press comment on this band wherever it has been has invariably been flattering. It would appear that any organization could be devoid of any other attraction and still the crowds would flock to hear Yarborough and his high-class musicians.

The present is the thirteenth consecutive season for this band and its successive seasons has met bigger achievements greater prestige.

The management of the exposition feels that it has in large measure solved the amusement end of the event by signing up this band.

PLENTY OF ICE ASSURED.

Danville Ice Co. Has 3,000 Tons Stored Aready to Prepare for Hot Season.

The directors of the Danville Ice company met yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Danville Traction and Power company to make preparations for the coming season and the heavy demand for the concealed commodity in such universal hot weather demand. In this connection it may be of timely interest to note that the company is well prepared to meet the demand for ice during the coming summer, no matter how long or warm the season may be. As a preparation for the summer, the management have already manufactured and stored three thousand tons of excellent ice in its new and modern storage house. The prices will be the same as last season and correspond with those elsewhere, being at a slight advance over pre-war prices.

The company is contracting for the rehabilitation and improvement of its auxiliary manufacturing plant on the north side of the river and will expend probably $25,000 in the thorough modernization of this in order to increase the output and provide the very best quality of ice. The additions to equipment and the improvements may cost slightly more than the sum stated or possibly slightly less.

The usual semi-annual dividend was voted on the common stock by the directors, payable as of April 1st.

FEDERAL BOARD STEPS FORWARD

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The Federal reserve board was understood today to have removed restrictions upon the dealing in bills of acceptance by banks to enable them to accept bills in an amount up to ten per cent of their capital stock without presentation of the documentary evidence of the transaction. According to high officials, the action of the board is a constructive step which should enable American interests to maintain their footing in the financing of international trade on equal terms with foreign banks.

CHANDLER CASE WILL GO TO JURY

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 23.—The trial of J. B. Chandler, charged with the murder of his wife and mother-in-law, will probably rest with the jury tomorrow, the defense having completed its testimony this afternoon without putting the defendant on the stand. The State has a few rebuttal witnesses. Testimony that Chandler had asserted that his wife was unfaithful and until being up his children, to be used in the defense in emphasizing the contention that the defendant was under great mental stress was one of the features of testimony today.

JURY LOCKED UP.

MILLEN, Ga., March 23.—The jury in the case of R. H. Chance, one of five men charged with the murder of Watson Allen, was locked up for the night at 10:30 o'clock tonight. The case went to the jury at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Y. M. C. A. Needs 308 To Reach Goal Of 1,000

The second day's work of the Y. M. C. A. campaign raised the membership to 692, leaving 308 to be secured today to reach the goal of 1,000.

The workers gathered for supper at 6:30 which was prepared and served by members of the Y. M. C. A.

Following the appetizing meal General Chairman M. O. Nelson called on the chairman of the various divisions for their reports. Chairman S. C. Cunningham reported 45 for Division A. Chairman H. L. Boatwright reported 55 for Division B. In the absence of Wade H. Pearce, who was sick, Capt. H. A. Connors reported 53 for Division C. and Chairman A. D. Keen reported 42 for Division D.

M. O. Nelson called on W. G. Givens, chairman of the membership committee for a statement. The chairman called attention to the good work of the past two days and expressed his conviction that it was possible to sign up the 308 needed to reach the goal by tonight. The other chairmen responded in fine spirit. These were followed by other workers and E. G. Farham, treasurer, and a final word from President Julian C. Jordan with the result that all present pledged to do their best to reach the 1,000 goal today.

The general chairman asks all members who can possibly do so to get in touch with some captain and give all help in the work of the day.

Final reports will be made at the supper at 6:30 this afternoon. Any member not called on may telephone the office, 1970, or send check.

ANOTHER CRAFT VOTES TO STRIKE

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 23.—The wool sorters' union, one of the five crafts affiliated with the Lawrence textile council, voted unanimously tonight to strike Monday next in protest against wage reductions of approximately 20 per cent announced by the mills here this week.

Meetings of other crafts for the purpose of taking strike votes will be held this week. The four others affiliated with the textile council are the dyers, finishers, and square weavers and towel spinners.

It was estimated tonight that 500 wool sorters in the mills where wage reductions were announced would be affected by the strike order. About 12,000 persons are employed in the five plants, which are the Pacific, Everett, Monomac, Katama and Acadia Mills. The Arlington mills gave notice this week of a shutdown effective Monday next.

WOMAN BREAKS DOWN ON STAND

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Alice Blake, testifying for the prosecution in the third manslaughter trial of Rosemary C. (Patty) Arbuckle, broke down today during her recitation of the events at the party in Arbuckle's hotel suite which preceded the death of Miss Virginia Rappe. Court recessed until she had regained her composure.

In answer to charges made by defense counsel that she had been coerced and intimidated, Miss Blake said on direct examination, that nothing the district attorney had said or done had affected her veracity.

She said she had come to the district attorney's office voluntarily and had not been under his surveillance since two weeks before the first trial.

Mrs. Blake, attorneys said, probably would be the most important of the prosecution witnesses, because of the absence of Zey Trevost, show girl, who occupied the stellar position in Arbuckle's two earlier trials. Miss Trevost is in New Orleans and is reported to be too ill to come here.

Miss Grace E. Halston, surgical nurse at the Wakefield Sanitarium, testified that Miss Rappe had been received here September 6 and died September 9. She said she saw bruises on both arms and one leg of the film actress and when asked to describe the bruises in detail, she did so over the protest of the defense.

George W. Blum, police photographer, identified photographs of actress' right arm, and others showing two bruises of her face and of her legs.

Arbuckle avoided looking at the photograph of the girl's face.

District Attorney Brady offered a motion that the testimony of Miss Trevost at the first two trials be read into the record. It will be passed upon later.

ENGINEER DIES AT THE THROTTLE

ROANOKE, Va., March 23.—Joseph Wilson, of Roanoke, engineer on the Norfolk and Western railway, dropped dead at the throttle of his locomotive while operating a passenger train No. 5 near Phoebus tonight. Fireman M. S. Wilkerson, realizing that something was wrong, brought the train to a stop. He operated the train into Lynchburg, where he was relieved by an engineer. The train arrived in Roanoke about one hour behind schedule.

WOMAN IS CONVICTED.

Pastor Ekes Out Living As Floor Walker In Store

UNION HILL, N. J., March 23.—Unable to make financial ends meet on his salary of less than $24 weekly as pastor of the Methodist church here, Rev. W. C. Ramsey spends six days each week as a floor walker in a store and the seventh in his church. He was found today in the position of floor walker and section manager of a big Manhattan department store, a position which he has held the past year without the knowledge of his parishioners. Rev. Mr. Ramsey has been pastor of the Union Hill Methodist church for 30 years. "The average human doesn't work enough," he said. "I find that I can work as well as a floor walker, write my sermons, study and lecture in the evening, preach twice on Sunday and wake up Monday eager for my store job."

Asserts He Killed Man Who Libelled Him To His Fiancee

Ginsberg Testifies He Shot Lubin for Refusing to Exonerate Him of Theft of Gem.

NEW YORK, March 23.—Testifying in his trial for the murder of Samuel Lubin, Nov. 23, William Ginsberg told Judge Talley and a jury in general sessions yesterday that, rather than have the girl he loved believe him dishonest, he killed the only man who could have completely exonerated him after this man had refused entreaties to do so.

The girl, Miss Anna Rosenthal, of No. 1760 Notredam avenue, Brooklyn, told newspaper men outside the court room she was sorry she had not believed in and married Ginsberg, as she is now convinced such a course would have prevented him from becoming a murderer. Ginsberg said he was employed in the Lubin Monumental Works when he became engaged to Miss Rosenthal. He testified he was about to buy an engagement ring when Lubin persuaded him to buy a stone from him (Lubin) and have it set. A woman who said she lost a stone in Lubin's office told Miss Rosenthal she believed Ginsberg had stolen it. Ginsberg tried to get Lubin to tell Miss Rosenthal he had sold him the stone. Lubin refused and, calling Ginsberg a coward bared his breast and told him he did not have the nerve to shoot.

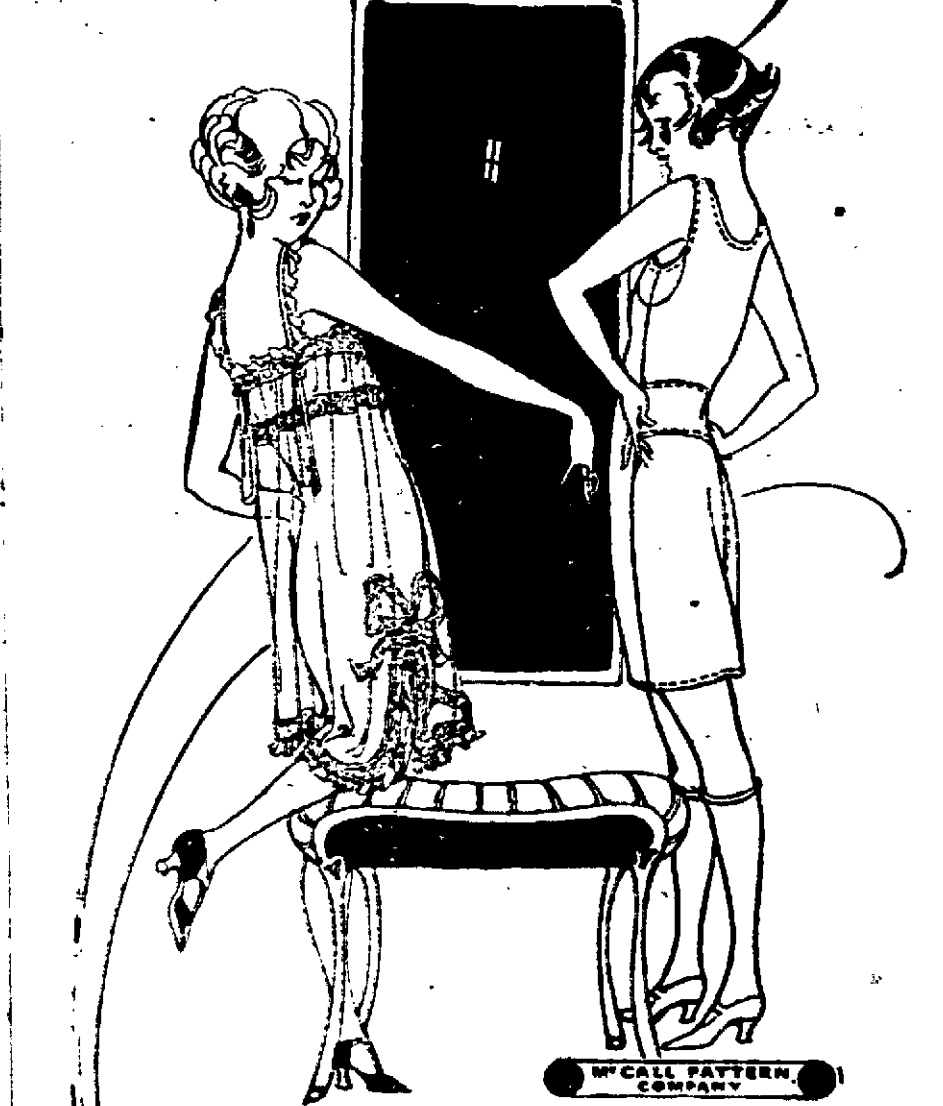

ter or some mail and keep me informed of things. "But, cheer up, my dear. I am going to die for you as a sacrifice to show you that my love was pure and I simply can't live without you. I would have done this a long time ago only I waited, thing perhaps Lubin would change his mind and let you know the truth. Goodbye, my dear one, be good and strong. You will find one who will make you happy some day. Yours forever, Billy." Ginsberg, who lives at No. 47 South Fifth street, Brooklyn, served in the world war, according to his attorney, Alexander Kaniuski, as a volunteer in the medical corps. He was honorably discharged.

AMERICAN SHIPS BACK ON SEAS

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Ships flying the American flag operating from Gulf ports are carrying 50 per cent of the cotton exported, compared with 15 per cent a year ago, Vice-President Smith said today. Shipping board operators in the Gulf ports, he said, are making requests for more ships, and the shipping board has adopted a policy of granting their requests, provided they increase their freight rates so that they will not lose money which would occur, in the view of shipping board officials, under the present rates. In connection with the coal strike which is imminent for April 1, Mr. Smith said that, although no consideration had been given to transporting coal from England, nor had any requests been made, the shipping board could probably take on cargoes of coal from England at a freight rate of approximately $2.20 a ton. It would be only a minor charge and could be done because coal would make a better ballast than any other for those ships which would have to return in ballast.

Barbarism Vies With Daintiness

THERE are two strong tendencies seemingly opposed to each other, which have manifested themselves this spring in underwear fashions, which the discriminating woman now studies with the same care which she devotes to her outer garments. The first is towards more tailored undergarments, and the other is towards bizarre effects. Satin striped radium silks are in the lead in the popular fabric for exactly tailored undies. Corduroy crepe is also extensively used. Many gorgeous and barbaric effects are gained by the use of colors that once would have seemed out of the question for underwear. Black radium with little dashes of flame-colored silk, for instance, makes one lovely set. Vivid yellow, in the new shade, "dent de lion," is also being extensively used, with trimmings of self color, black, or a bright blue. While all the colors of the rainbow are seen in the latest underthings, the dainty and very feminine ones still hold first place in popularity. Orchid is the closest rival to flesh pink though Princess Mary's fondness for blue is likely to boom that color, in all shades, this spring. One-tone satin brocaded crepes are also popular, those in white being especially liked for trousseau sets. Delicate cottons are by no means out of the running, particularly the athletic type garment. Dimities in a variety of striped and checked effects, volles and printed muslins and cotton crepes are to be had.

Trial Will Bring Demand For Control Of Amusements

Rickard Case Will Cause Parents to Be More Careful—Make Play Safe Is Slogan.

(By N. E. A. Service.) NEW YORK, March 23.—The case of Tex Rickard, who is charged with mistreating little girls whose parents allowed them to frequent his great swimming pool in Madison Square Garden, has quickened a demand for public control of commercial amusement places. "Make play safe" is the slogan of the movement.

When Rickard transformed the garden into a swimming pool, his action generally was regarded as a boon for New York. "But if it is proved that Rickard harmed a single child who went to this place," says Ferdinand Pecora, chief assistant district attorney, "all the good the place has done cannot make up for the harm done."

While Rickard is fighting to prove his innocence, forces are gathering that look toward stricter supervision of similar enterprises, not only in New York but in every community in the United States. Leaders in the movement hope to have the governments, State or local, actually come to town and operate such places.

Rev. Charles L. Steidle, one of America's foremost sociologists, said today: "Recreation, paradoxical as it may seem, is too serious a matter to be left in private hands. Especially is this true in the case of large amusement enterprises."

"The history of commercialized amusement is that too often it falls into the hands of men who betray the trust that their public responsibility entails."

"The remedy is for recreation to be made a government function. In many of its aspects it is more important than any other work the government is doing."

Clean recreation is a safeguard for national health of mind and body. But this cannot be had unless play is conducted in the right more environment."

National Movement. The Playground and Recreation Association of America is expected to aid in expansion of public control of recreational facilities now being exploited by private owners.

In New York the Manhattan Borough League of Women Voters is aroused by the Rickard case, mainly because of the charges that parents who entrusted their children to Rickard and his institution found their trust betrayed.

"More women police would help to an extent," says Mrs. Robert P. Oliver, executive secretary of this organization. "But that would be merely a palliative. The remedy must be more fundamental. Good recreation is as great a need as good roads and there is just as much reason for the government to provide one as the other."

Parents' Problem. Mrs. Leslie Tompkins, vice chairman, and Mrs. Juvette Fairbanks, treasurer, endorsed this stand, adding that the manner in which modern amusement enterprises are conducted makes it absolutely necessary for parents to watch over their children very carefully.

Captain Eva Prendergast, of the women's police reserve, said: "In every city there is need for better supervision of amusements, to wipe out evil, immoral environments. But until parents inculcate in their children proper moral standards, boys and girls alike will fall victims to those who exploit them to satisfy their greed or sensuality."

SEVEN KILLED IN WRECK. DETROIT, Mich., March 24.—Seven persons were killed near Rochester, Mich., today when their automobile skidded on a slippery highway and was struck by an interurban car. The dead are: Edward H. Ives, assistant general superintendent of the Detroit United Railway, Mrs. Ives, their four children and a guest.

Burns Fatal To Mt. Airy Woman

MOUNT AIRY, N. C., March 23.—A fatal accident occurred here yesterday evening which cost the life of Mrs. Margaret Tilley, wife of John Tilley. Mrs. Tilley, who was a woman of about 40 years of age, had gathered in the eggs from her hens and was stooping in front of the fireplace to put them away when her dress caught fire on the back, and the flame had a good start before she realized that her clothing was on fire. Not being able to put out the fire which was climbing rapidly up her back, she ran out of doors to summon assistance and the wind fanned the flame, so that she was horribly burned before anyone could get to her. Neighbors ran to her but she was so badly burned that she died this morning about 6 o'clock.

BURBANK'S BETTER GARDEN TIPS THE FLOWER GARDEN

ARTICLE NO. 5

THE BACK YARD AT LUTHER BURBANK'S HOME

BY LUTHER BURBANK
The World's Greatest Scientific Agriculturist.

SWEET peas and zinnias are likely to give the best results to the beginner in his flower garden.

Zinnias blossom all summer long and the newer varieties offer a wide range of beautiful colors as well as contrasting beauties of form. For 15 cents invested in seeds (can be obtained as generous floral results as would come from $25 spent on dahlia roots).

Zinnias form a very inexpensive and almost certain garden product. A giant variety, an inch or more across each blossom and insuring a gorgeous, long lasting flower bed.

Sweet peas will grow almost anywhere. They thrive even in the shade. But they should be planted early, although frequently they thrive even after late planting. Also they grow rapidly and blossom over a long period, especially if the flowers are quickly gathered and the plants are allowed to go to seed.

Marigolds and poppies can rest be placed upon the beginner's list. Marigolds are a hardy annual and can be depended upon almost anywhere.

Poppies should be sown early and have an early yield. One cannot be too careful in thinking of sowing the seed. Most everyone sprinkles poppy seed ten times too liberally and congestion generally results.

Poppies should be grown a foot apart to get the best color and quantity. Any number of fine poppy varieties can now be secured and a most interesting flower bed group arranged if care is given to selection.

But WIGWAG IMPORTANTS the early sowing for poppies that is even when the seed is sown on the snow or in frozen ground.

DELICATE FLOWERS

If a more elaborate assortment of flowers than that already spoken of is desired, the gladiolus should be given a prominent place.

It is hard to find a flower more profuse in worthwhile blossoms and they are to be had in an almost endless variety of color and form.

Gladioli will grow in almost any soil, but earth containing some sand seems best. The ground should be well spaded to the depth of about a foot. If bulbs are used, DO NOT USE FRESH MANURE. This often tends to produce disease in the bulb.

Five or six inches below the surface is a proper depth for planting although where the soil is particularly sandy it is well to plant even an inch deeper. Selection of an open spot where the sun strikes is important. Also water plentifully before the plant begins to flower. In cutting the flowers leave at least four full leaves on the bulb.

This matter of cutting brings up another mistake beginners make all too frequently. They make the mistake of cutting all the leaves away. This should be carefully guarded against as new bulbs grow after flowering and need the help of the leaves. Another point to remember in cutting is to insert the point of a knife sideways into a stem and crack the stem over, rather than breaking it off. This aids the bulb in its natural growth.

(More flower hints by Burbank tomorrow and directions for crossing.)

Radio Phones For Chinese To Thwart Thieves

NEW YORK, March 23—Chinese robber bands which have been stealing unprotected copper telephone wires between Peking and Tientsin will be thwarted this week when what is claimed to be the longest radio telephone circuit in the world is opened between the two cities. The Western Electric company announced tonight.

Peking and Tientsin, 90 miles apart, have been connected with the regular telephone lines of the Chinese government but the intruder lines operating out of the Celestial capital are a few and the demands so great that subscribers have found it difficult to get service.

To aid the operation of the new system is concerned the procedure is no different from what it would be if wire connections were provided through a Peking subscriber during the usual manner the Peking operator signals Tientsin over a radio channel and Tientsin makes the necessary connection.

The radio sets, manufactured in the United States, have special features to prevent as much interference from atmospheric electricity and other stations. The normal range of the transmitters under fairly severe conditions is approximately 100 miles, with a greater range under favorable conditions. During the installation period music was broadcast 1,000 miles.

MARK DROPS AGAIN

NEW YORK, March 23—Germany's more serious financial and general economic position among the nations of the world found concrete expression here today when the mark fell to the new low record of 29 1/2 per cent of one cent. The extent of this collapse, probably unprecedented in modern history, may be gauged from the fact that the normal pre-war value of the mark here was 23 1/2 cents.

Chinese Speak Only In German

NEW YORK, March 24.—When the immigration inspector talked to the head man of a troupe of 12 Chinese immigrants at Ellis Island today, he began:

"Hello, John. You speak English?"

"Nicht verstehen," said the head man. "Where you China boy go to?" the inspector persisted.

"Donner vetter,"

"Ich weiss nicht."

"You stay a long time, you wear a shirt?"

The inspector wanted some line on their industrial aptitude.

"We inner ichewell," Sie Zandt said.

Affairs were reaching a crisis when the German interpreter happened along. He ascertained the 12 dozen Chinese, who arrived on March 1, the New Amsterdam, were members of an acrobat troupe coming to join an American circus for the summer. They had lived in Germany since infancy.

Boy Heir to $1,000,000 Disappears in New York

NEW YORK, March 24.—Mrs. Graham Duffield, of Chicago, arrived here today to search for her 17-year-old son, Gordon, who, she said, had been left a $1,000,000 estate by his uncle, Gordon Duffield, of Detroit, with the stipulation that he should receive it on attaining his majority.

The letter according to his mother last October disappeared from the Groszmann school in Plainfield, N. J. The next she heard from him that he was working in a restaurant and preferred it to his studies.

The letter bearing the mark of the Madison Square postoffice.

Toy "Bombs" Sold to Brooklyn Children

NEW YORK, March 24.—A tiny toy "bomb" selling for a penny was the latest plaything of Brooklyn school children until Saturday a policeman seized 1,100 of them in the store patronized by the children.

Teachers complained of the noise the glass tubes made when popped during recess and reported the exploding chemicals caused the children's eyes to smart.

It was said the little tubes were used by overseas troops during the war to purify drinking water.

Straton Attacks Church Hypocrisy

Assails Those Members Who Fail to Dissociate Themselves from Worldliness.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Turning from the theater, making pictures, prizefights, "jazz" dances and drink, the Rev. John Roach Straton trained his guns on the church and church people last night in a sermon delivered in his most denunciatory style. He also told his congregation at the Calvary Baptist church that he would begin a series of revival meetings there next Sunday night. He especially called upon the church to divorce herself absolutely from the sinful world, and cleanse herself of worldliness and sin.

"The church is called in the Bible the 'bride of Christ,'" he said. "Has not Christ, therefore, the right to expect that His bride shall come to Him pure and clean? Think of a bride coming to the marriage altar, clothed in a harlot, and that her garments are all dirty and stained by worldliness!"

The preacher charged that "the Church of England has blocked prohibition in that country for over a generation. The brewery stock held by the bishops is the real mountain in the way of the righteous and urgently needed reform in old England."

Without mentioning Bishop Gailer, of the Episcopal church by name, Dr. Straton denounced the bishop for his recently noted stand on prohibition. "The bishop who comforts the liquorites" was the way Dr. Straton headed this part of his sermon. Printed copies provided for the occasion. "It was somewhat reassuring," he added, "to hear a solid blast from Bishop Manning on the right side of this question."

Dr. Straton rebuked women church members who attended prize fights. After referring to the bout promoted by Miss Anne Morgan some months ago, he went on:

"Last Tuesday evening, in Madison Square Garden, we had a bloody prize fight got up for charity. It is charity feature gave to our high society folk a good excuse for attending, and they did attend. We had in the papers a list of the ladies—the social leaders—who occupied the mezzanine boxes. We had vivid descriptions of how they were dressed and even how they held their 'forgotten' white waikers. The fact is that these social leaders are almost all of them prominent also in church activities."

"Think of women whose influence is world-wide because of their wealth and position, women who belong to the Church of Christ, sitting at a ring-side watching and applaud two practically naked men pounding and bruising each other and struggling in sweat and blood until one is beaten down by cruel cunning and the weight of superior brute force."

"Then try to imagine the old-fashioned Christian women—yes, try to imagine your mother attending a prize fight!"

Giving over the fact that many "high financiers" are church members and that one of the most famous of these financial freebooters is a trustee of one of our cathedrals, the preacher added:

"Will not action be taken by the churches in the case of women who stand convicted before the community of such gross misconduct?"

Youth Is Indicted For Double Murder

PETERSBURG, March 24.—Two separate grand juries were returned by the Dinwiddie county grand jury Monday against Everett Marks, the 21-year-old world war veteran, charging him with the murder of A. E. Heath and Melvin Ford, who were shot and fatally wounded on the night of February 25, last, on Heath's farm in Dinwiddie county. The case has been set for the June term of court and Marks was taken back to jail, where he will be held without bail.

Gilliam and Gilliam, who were retained as counsel for the accused, announced last night that they had withdrawn from the case. They gave no reasons for their actions, but it is understood that the alleged murderer and his family are without the necessary funds with which to fight for his freedom. It is probable that the court will appoint an attorney to represent the young man when his case is called again.

Marks did not make an statement yesterday when he appeared in court and has maintained strict silence since he surrendered to the police.

The murder of Heath and Ford has developed into one of the most mysterious in the history of the county court. Both Heath and Ford refused to give the name of their assailants, except Heath said on his death bed that he could not say if a white man or light colored man had shot him.

Marks is alleged to have gone to Heath's farm on the night of the murder. He went to the woods with Heath and in a few minutes several shots were heard, but Marks never returned to an automobile waiting for him in front of Heath's house. He went to the police headquarters only Monday after the shooting and surrendered to the police without making any statement.

Ancient Jews and Arabs used their fingers as an aid to addition.

High Court To Say If Skirt Is Too High

LAWRENCE Kan., March 23.—The Kansas Supreme court will have to say in judgment on the length, or lack of length, to which a "fapper" may go in the case for short skirts.

Counsel for Alice Hines and Maude Buchanan of Vinland, gave notice in the Douglas County District court that they will appeal a decision of Judge Hugh Means to the state's highest tribunal.

Judge Means Tuesday threw out of court the case brought by J. H. Hines, father of the girls, against the Vinland high school and superintendent Maude Alford, claiming that the girls' skirts did not reach three inches below their knees, in accordance with a regulation made by Superintendent Alford and upheld by the Vinland high school board.

The plaintiff declared that while the girls' skirts didn't reach exactly three inches below their knees, they did reach within 2 1/2 of an inch below, and that the regulation and the enforcement were unjust.

Report Is Made On Chicago Fire

CHICAGO, March 23.—Blame for the $5,000,000 fire which destroyed a block of downtown business buildings last week was placed on the delay between the origin of the fire and the arrival of the first firefighting unit in a preliminary report of the Chicago Board of Underwriters made public today.

Whether this delay was due to failure to discover the fire promptly or whether it was the failure of the fire department was not stated.

—Jeannette B. Luther has been detained at her home, Cabell street, with influenza, but is reported better today.

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women—whether you will ever build your body up to normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working. It builds new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people, it puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms, neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowness from eyes, and it fills Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a real blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, tetter, blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

IF A BODY KISS A BODY, CAN A BODY GET DIVORCE? JUDGE RULES NO!

The Old Version—

Or leave a kiss but in the cup
And I'll not ask for wine! Johnson

JUDGE FRANK D. HUTCHINGS

The New Version—

To give a kiss to some lone male
Cannot make matrimony fail!

3 COL IF A BODY . . . n . . . KANSAS CITY, Kas., March 24.—"Tis the modern legal opinion that

"To give a kiss to some lone male Cannot make matrimony fail."

For such was the ruling handed down recently by Judge Frank D. Hutchings in a Kansas City divorce hearing.

His new version displaces the one of ancient times:

"Or leave a kiss but in the cup And I'll not ask for wine."

Nick Hervatin appeared before the judge, seeking separation because his wife had gone to a park and kissed another man.

He introduced as a witness a detective whom he employed to watch his wife. According to his sleuth Mrs. Hervatin embraced and kissed a man in a public park.

This testimony was not disputed. And then Judge Hutchings said:

"The fact that the plaintiff's wife kissed another man seems to be established. However, that does not strike me as conclusive proof that she was unfaithful to her husband."

"Kissing, these days, is looked upon as a less forceful proof of love than in years gone by."

He suggested that the couple patch up the quarrel.

As a result Kansas City folks are arguing for and against the ruling.

"Mental torture is a cause for divorce," Kansas says," Mrs. Masie Jones. I certainly would consider promiscuous kissing by the wife as coming under that head."

Judge Thomas J. Seehorn of the Circuit Court of Kansas City, Mo., says the motive behind the kiss should influence the judge in the case.

"Some kisses might be innocent," says he, "and others full of guilt."

Mrs. Henry N. Ess, leader among Kansas City clubwomen, sides against the ruling.

"There are certain things one cannot do after marriage," says she. "One of them is meeting men in a park and kissing them."

Many simply say, "Well—there are kisses—and kisses!"

What do you think?

Bonus Bill Is Passed By House On Big Majority

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The four billion dollars soldiers' bonus bill was passed tonight by the House by an overwhelming majority.

It now goes to the senate where its fate is regarded as uncertain.

Party lines disappeared both in the general debate and on the final roll call. 242 Republicans, 90 Democrats and one Socialist supported the bill and 42 Republicans and 28 Democrats voted against it.

The vote was 332 to 79 or 64 more than the two-thirds necessary majority for passage of the measure under the parliamentary procedure selected by Republican leaders for the expressed purpose of preventing the Democrats from offering a motion to recommit.

As passed by the House, the bonus bill would provide for immediate cash payments to veterans whose adjusted service pay would not exceed $500, and would give the other veterans two options of these four plans:

Adjusted service certificates, with provision authorizing loans by banks at the first three years after next October 1 and by the government thereafter, the certificates to run for 20 years and to have a face value at maturity of the amount of the adjusted service credit at the rate of $1 a day for domestic service and $1.25 a day for foreign service, increased by 25 per cent, plus interest at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent compounded annually.

Vocational training aid after January 1, 1923, at the rate of $1.75 a day, the rate to be increased to $2.00, however, 140 per cent of the adjusted service credit.

Farm and home aid under which veterans purchase or improve farms or homes would be paid after July 1, 1923, a sum equal to their adjusted service credit increased by 25 per cent.

Land settlement, under which lands could be reclaimed under the supervision of a special board, and farm units established for sale to the veterans at a price fixed by the board less the amount of the adjusted service credit due the purchasers.

In only two important particulars does this measure differ from the one passed by the House two years ago and that shelved in the Senate last July. The original cash bonus option was eliminated and the bank loan provision of the adjusted service certificate substituted.

Not since the war days had the House galleries been jammed as they were today, from the time Speaker Gillett fell at 11 a. m. until the last vote had been cast.

Shades of gray enveloped the capitol. And not in many years had such scenes been enacted on the floor, where there frequently was an up and down alternate applause, laughter and jeers.

Like the House itself, the galleries were pro-bonus and supporters of the bill were frequently applauded despite the infringement of the rules which this entailed. But the greatest applause was not for a proponent, but an opponent, the members and many of the spectators rising and tendering an ovation to "Uncle Joe" Cannon as the grizzled holder of the American record for length of legislative service arose late in the day to deliver a two-minute speech in which he declared that the men who served in the world war owed that service to their country.

In all there was slightly more than five hours of discussion with 25 of the 438 members taking part in it. Transcripts of their remarks would fill about two ordinary sized newspapers. Many of them were on their feet only a minute or two, at times, but the House gave unanimous consent for all members to extend their remarks in the Congressional record during the next five days and editions of that volume during that time promised to be exceedingly bulky.

Arguments against the bill were more frequent than those in its favor, due to the fact that many Democrats who announced that they would support it vigorously attacked some of its provisions and the ways and means committee for failure to provide means of financing the bonus. In the course of the debate the measure was referred to as "gold brick," a "bogus" bill, a "hokus-pokus" and a deformed and malformed creature.

Supporters of the bill defended it as the best that could be obtained at this time and some of them declared that it was even better than the original measure with its cash bonus features since it would enable veterans in need to obtain cash immediately and at the same time be protected by the government in their rights in the adjusted service certificates.

Politics were injected into the debate several times during the day and resulted in some warm exchanges. Representative Pott, Democrat, North Carolina, declared what he characterized as the effort of the majority to make the bonus a partisan issue while Representatives Campbell, Republican, Kansas, and Longworth, assailed the minority report on the bill filed by Representative Eichen of North Carolina.

Mr. Longworth declared that the reference in the minority report to Ambassador Harvey at London as the "blissphemous, bibular bootlicker at the court of St. James," was most disgracefully vulgar. He characterized the whole report as cheap, wantonly vulgar and disgraceful.

As the debate dragged along late in the day many members began to manifest impatience and toward the last some of the speakers had difficulty in getting underway because of the repeated and loud demands for a vote. Speaker Gillett had trouble at times in maintaining order despite a liberal use of his gavel.

At the outset of the day Democratic leaders sought to upset the majority program to have the bill considered under a suspension of the rules but Speaker Gillett over-ruled the point of order by Representative Garrett, that the resolution making this a special suspension of the rules was in violation of the House rules.

Opening the debate, Chairman Ford explained the bill in detail and concluded with the declaration that, that in practically every state where the bonus had been put to a vote it had been approved by a large majority and that of the ten States that had voted a cash bonus, "Not" one was south of the Mason and Dixon line."

Republicans voting for the bonus bill included:

Claude, Tennessee; Fordney, Langley, Kentucky; Longworth, Missouri; Reece, Tennessee; Robinson, Kentucky; Scott, Tennessee; Slamp, Taylor, Tennessee and Volstead.

Search Man For Pistol In Court

NEWPORT NEWS, March 23.—Considerable excitement broke out in circuit court yesterday where the nature of business usually is calm and demure.

Mrs. Harry Cohen was suing Mr. Cohen for $2,000 for a note. Her son-in-law was one of her witnesses.

During the trial yesterday he entered the court room. Mr. Cohen whispered to his lawyer. Things began to happen.

Some days ago Mr. Cohen had Mr. Vitsky, his wife's son-in-law, in police court on the charge of felonious shooting. The justice changed the charge to shooting within the city limits and imposed a fine.

So yesterday when Mr. Vitsky entered the court room Mr. Cohen, his stepfather-in-law, whispered to his lawyer. His lawyer appealed to the judge, asking that Mr. Vitsky be searched for a gun.

No Funds Available For Movie Censors

(Special to The Bee.)
RICHMOND, March 24.—It is discovered, now that the legislature is gone, that there is no provision for financing the opening operations of the board of moving picture censors, which was adopted by the last legislature. The board has been named, but there must be the purchase of two moving picture machines, the rent of quarters for the board, the employment of a stenographer and the employment of an operator for the machines. That will require a considerable outlay and the salaries of the board will have to be met each month. It is possible that the governor can employ his contingent fund to inaugurate the activities of the board.

DRAKES BRANCH, March 24.—(Grapevine Wireless).—Work on the new Masonic Temple has slowed down in order to let the concrete dry out after the hard rains. All this talk about the top being bigger than the bottom, etc., is pure bunk. The husky foreman uses the plain American word "lie" when people ask him foolish questions. So, if we will just be patient and wait until the temple is ready, we will see Danville's first skyscraper a reality and a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Another Christmas's rolls around. Mr. Kuschner inspects the work every day. He will probably build one like it on North Main street, so it must be going along all right. While there's life there's hope!

HEARS ESTATE IS $10,000,000

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 23.—William McCarthy, a veteran of the Civil War who has been living on a pension from the government in a little house at Railroad avenue, has inherited one fourth of an estate valued in the millions, left by his brother, Timothy McCarthy, of Spokane, Washington.
William L. Moran, a lawyer of New Rochelle, who has been engaged by McCarthy to look after his interests, said that Timothy McCarthy died in Spokane on February 13 and his will was offered for probate in Spokane on March 2.
McCarthy believed that his brother whom he had not seen since they came from Ireland as young men, was about as poor as himself.
"My brother went West prospecting man years ago," he said. "I didn't know that he had made much money and this news of a fortune comes as a great surprise. I don't know how I will use it."
According to the will, Mr. Moran said, "William inherits one fourth of the estate. I cannot tell whether it is worth $2,000,000 or $10,000,000 until I go out to Spokane in May. I know from letters the estate is a good deal more than $10,000,000. The deed was left to his brother, Daniel, who lived in Ireland only 25 because he was willing to do. The remainder in quarterly shares was divided between a sister, Mrs. Richardson of Manhattan, a brother, Michael, in Ireland and four other places. 25 neighbors in this country and Ireland.

Soon they heard a scramble and a splash in the creek. Dan Slike was coming back.
Slike jammed his Winchester into one of the empty scabbards and untied the reins of the horses. Holding the reins in one hand, he gripped a saddle horn and simultaneously stuck his toe in the stirrup. Then a mighty creak of saddle leather, a snort, and Slike found himself on his back on the ground with one foot higher than his head. A gun barrel smote him smartly over the ear.
When Slike emerged into the full possession of his senses, he was the most disgusted man in the territory.
"Do you feel like admitting that the district attorney helped you break jail?" asked Billy.
"Nothin' to say," declared Dan Slike, the unrepentant.
They found the body of the man with his face in the water. Billy dragged out the body and turned it on its back.
"This feller ain't Jack Murray," cried the perplexed Mr. Wingo. "It's Skinny Shindle. Where's Jack Murray?"
They left Skinny Shindle lying beside the little creek and went to the other dead man beside the branding fire.
Billy turned the dead man face upward. He whistled. "Here's an odd number. This feller is Simon Reelfoot's foreman, Conley. I'd sure like to know why he's riding for the T U."
Came then a puncher riding on his occasions.
"I know him," said Dawson. "Conley, Tommy. It's me, Johnny Dawson."
"Lo Johnny," Tommy said, with a straight mouth. "Did that man with his arms tied kill Daley?"
"Is that his name?" asked Billy, flicking his thumb toward the dead man.
"Jim Daley," said Tommy. "Did he?"
"Sure, I killed him," Slike truculently answered the question.
"This is sure hard on Daley," observed Tommy. "He told me he came north for his health."
"North?"
"Yeah couldn't stand the climate in Arizona," he said, amplified Tommy. "He only joined the outfit last week. Let's go see if I know the other feller."
"Sure, I know him," declared Tommy, after one look at the dead face. "He's named Brindley—been with the Horseshoe since February."
Toward dawn next day the horses showed signs of tiring. "Mine won't last another five miles," said Johnny Dawson.
They were making camp when Billy stopped to examine a butcher knife taken from Slike. He caught his breath. On the handle of the butcher knife the letters T W were cut deep into the wood.
"How many butcher knives did you take from Slike?" he demanded.
"One," replied Slike.
"Why, hell bells!" exclaimed Billy. "When you didn't kill Rafe Tuckleton?"
"First I knew he was dead," Slike said thoughtfully. "As a rule, I don't kill my customers."
"He said he only took one knife," Billy told himself stupidly.
He was no nearer the solution of the Tuckleton murder. His theory that Slike had killed Tuckleton was smashed to smithereens by the discovery of the Walton butcher knife in Slike's bootleg. Unless Slike had taken two knives. But Slike had not taken two knives.
Early on the morning several days later the sheriff pro tem of Crocker county was roused by rappings on the office door. Shotgun Shillman did not open the front door. He went round the back way with his gun in his hand and, climbing the house, he found at the front door a hatless Dan Slike flat on his back in the dust, tied hand and foot, and with a gag in his mouth.
Later in the day Guerilla Melody called on Nate Samson, asked the bookkeeper several apparently aimless questions and leafed through the outlaid pages of Nate's hardware catalog. Still later in the day Johnny Dawson rode out of Golden Bar. Only two people beside himself knew that he was bound for the railroad and telegraph line.
CHAPTER XVII
THERE'S a lot of this stuff I don't understand," said Guerilla Melody after Dawson's return. "Why did Conley go south? Conley ain't committed any crime round here that I know of."
"I'm betting he did, all right," said Billy. "Or else why was he so particular to tell those T U boys he was from Arizona?"
Guerilla looked bewildered. "What did Conley have against Tip?"
"I don't know," said Billy. "But maybe friend Simon can tell us something."
Simon Reelfoot, riding the range that day, met a strange horseman. Dan Slike knew where Park Valley was. Simon knew.
"Shucks," said the straggler. "Here's a cowboy and a pencil. Make a list of names, will you?"
"Here," said Simon, holding out the envelope. "This ought to fix you up."
"To his honor, the well known voice of Billy Wingo at his back consoled him."
"Kindly clasp your hands over your hat," said Billy.
"You oughtn't to have given him that envelope," Billy admonished the straggler. "It has the confession in it."
Simon stirred uneasily on his saddle. Confession! Whose confession? He recalled that there had been several folded sheets of paper in the envelope. Of course, Simon could not him, too!

"Conley shot him too, huh?"
"He was gonna squeal! He was gonna get me mixed into that Walton murder. They told me he was! He—he pulled first, I tell you! I was drunk! I didn't know what I was doing! Oh, my Gawd!"
Billy flung the groveling Simon from him. "This ought to be enough for you."
That evening there was another prisoner in the Golden Bar calaboose. "If they keep on coming in like this," said Shotgun Shillman to Riley Fyler, "we'll have to build an addition to the jail."
"What next?" asked Guerilla Melody. "What tips a murder settled and known? Who killed Tuckleton?"
"Guerilla doesn't help us any with the stage hold-up," cut in Billy. "Before we spring the joke in the Tuckleton deal, I've got to do a little more work on the hold-up."
A convivial voice in the street broke into a raucous song. "Who's that?" asked Billy.
"It's Jerry Fern," said Guerilla indifferently. "He's drunk again. Aunt died, left him money. Big legacy. Must have been for crafty to lend him money to play with."
"Do you know Crafty's been lending money to Jerry?"
"Didn't I see him with my own eyes more than once?"
"Do you think you can get Jerry Fern in a corner and make him drink?"
"I'll make him drunk," Guerilla said earnestly. "Or there ain't a drop of vitue in Old Crow."
Guerilla flipped on his hat and departed.
"You can't tell me that internal Bill Wingo ain't at the bottom of all this business!" snarled Felix Craft. "Guerilla Melody and that Dawson friend of his didn't get Slike by themselves any more than I did."
"And there was a time when we thought Bill didn't have any brains," Sam Larder grieved bitterly.
"I didn't," avowed the district attorney. "I always knew."
"Do do, then, open, and, Jerry Fern, wild-eyed with liquor, stumbled into the room. The stage driver rolled straight to Felix Craft and pawed him. "Fuf-felix," he babbled, "I want shush-shome money."
The furious Felix shook him off. But Jerry Fern was nothing if not persistent.
The grinning faces of Guerilla Melody, Johnny Dawson, Shotgun and Riley looked in through the open doorway.
"Come along, Jerry," called Guerilla. "We been hunting you all over." "I wuh-wuh-wan shush-shome mumm-money," gargled Jerry. "I wuh-wuh-wan mumm-money you promised me."
"I'll give you what you deserve. There was cream and butter in the gambler's voice, but there was grizzly menace in his restless eyes.
"Gug-gave mumm-money more than ygu gug-gave bub-before?"
"Yes, yes, C'mon!"
"Wuh-want mumm-money now!" yelled the contumacious Jerry. "Or I'll pup-pup you in jail!"

Dying Ex-Service Man Clears Hines Of Brutal Slaying

Richmond Man Sentenced to Serve 15 Years, May Go Free on Account of Dying Declaration.

RICHMOND, Va., March 22.—Curtis R. Jenkins, 25, a South Richmond youth, who died Feb. 23, confessed on his deathbed six days before he died that he and not Walter R. Hines killed Policeman Washington I. Curtis last August, while the latter was patrolling his beat at Sixth and Stockton streets, according to a statement made by Mrs. Bessie Jenkins, 2602 Bainbridge street, a sister-in-law of Curtis Jenkins.

Hines, who was convicted of the crime in hustings court, Part II, Jan. 21, last, and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary, is in jail now awaiting the outcome of an appeal which his counsel made for him to the supreme court. According to Mrs. Jenkins, the young man's confession also was given to his brother, Fred M. Jenkins, and the latter has given the information to L. O. Wendenburg and J. M. Turner, attorneys for Hines, who will seek to have the case of Hines reopened.

Mrs. Bessie Jenkins, who gave an account of the dying statement of Jenkins, said last night that she was confounded when she heard the self-accusing words from the lips of the young man. It seemed incredible to her, she said, and at first she was inclined to place no more credence in it than in the sayings of a delirious man, but afterwards she was told by Fred M. Jenkins that his brother had made a similar confession to him.

Despite this, she said, the brother waited until several days ago before he made any mention of it to anyone outside of the family. Then he sought out Attorney J. M. Turner and L. O. Wendenburg, counsel for Hines, and told them of the statement made by Jenkins.

The attorneys today declined to discuss the matter further than to say that they expect to go into court in a few days in the interest of their former client.

"We will show exactly who really did kill Curtis," said Mr. Wendenburg. A plea for reopening the case will be made on the basis of after-discovered evidence. Mrs. Jenkins and the brother will be summoned to court.

Young Jenkins died Feb. 23 of pneumonia and meningitis. He was delirious much of the time, especially when the meningitis developed about three days before he died. He lived at 31 Toler street, in Swansboro, with his aged mother. Mrs. Bessie Jenkins, his sister-in-law, last night gave the following account of the confession:

"It was Feb. 17 that I went in the room to give him his medicine. He had been delirious. I said, 'Come, Curtis, take your medicine.' He said, 'No, wait. I want to tell you something.' I said again, 'I want to give you your medicine.'

"I thought he was in another fit of delirium, and I said, 'Do you know who this is?' and he said, 'Yes, it's Bessie; but wait, I want to tell you something.'

"I sat down on the bed and he said, 'I killed that man; Hines didn't do it.' He tapped his finger on his chest as he said it.

"I was shocked so that I nearly fainted, but I only said, 'Well, now take your medicine.' He did this. Then I began to think about what he had said. It worried me and I thought often of going to Willis Pulliam and telling him, but I dreaded the ordeal. Then his brother told me that he had said practically the same thing to him. I advised him to be careful about what he did, and we talked it over. I didn't know he was going to tell the attorneys about it, but I suppose it was the only fair way to do. I try to lead a Christian life and want to do the right thing.

"His brother thought over the matter a long time before he decided to go to the attorneys. I thought of taking witnesses with me and going to the commonwealth authorities and telling them of it."

What the legal status of the case is cannot be ascertained at present. It has been pointed out that to be an authentic death-bed confession the person confessing would have to be aware of the fact that death was near. Whether or not young Jenkins realized this, members of the family could not say. Jenkins developed pneumonia a day or two after making the statement and was unconscious most of the time after that. He was drafted in the army in the first draft, but did not get over-seas, being stationed at Fort Washington, his relatives say. He was a youth of high morals, they say, and they never heard of his being in any serious trouble and did not regard him as being the kind of man who would become entangled in any embarrassing situations. He lived most of his life on the southside and supported his widowed mother, they said, and had a host of friends.

Walter R. Hines was convicted in hustings court, Part II, and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary Saturday, Jan. 21. His trial consumed many days. Evidence against him was circumstantial. The verdict was a surprise to many people, it being expected that Hines would be either convicted of murder in the first degree or acquitted. Attorney Kirk Mathews assisted Commonwealth's Attorney Willis Pulliam in the prosecution and made a brilliant arraignment of the prisoner. One of the odd circumstances of the case was that Attorney Mathews did not ask for a conviction of murder in the first degree. He stated to the jury that it was his opinion from the evidence that Hines merited it, but that for the sake of his youth he was willing for the sentence to be mitigated.

Policeman Washington Irving Curtis was shot to death while patrolling his beat at Sixth and Stockton streets. For several days the police worked feverishly in an effort to trace the person responsible for the killing.

Finally Hines was arrested and charged with the crime. The circumstances that were used largely to identify Hines with the crime comprised a cap which was found on the scene, such as was worn by Hines, a pistol carrying bullets of the same calibre as those which killed Policeman Curtis and the fact that he was known to have been close to the scene of the crime.

Hines is at present in the city jail awaiting an appeal to the supreme court.

Members of the family did not recollect young Jenkins wearing a cap of the description of the one found on the scene, though they said that they could not tell what sort of headgear he wore on all occasions.

HOW THEY SPEND THE NOBEL MONEY

STOCKHOLM, March 18.—Anatole France, the French author who won the $40,000 Nobel prize for literature last awarded, has just appeared the curiosity of the Swedish public by telling how he spent and invested the money. Most of it is already disposed of, he announced.

"The Nobel prize awarded me," said M. France, "has given rise to much talk and stupidities. I have spent some of the money for some very beautiful Gobelin tapestries—exquisite, royal ones. The rest of the money I have invested in French national defense bonds. I consider that an excellent and most comfortable investment."

Knut Hamsun, the Norwegian novelist, whose "Growth of Soil" helped win for him the Nobel prize for literature, showed that he was in earnest when he wrote the above mentioned book. He invested most of the Nobel prize in blooded stock and other improvements for his farm in Norway.

It will be recalled that Theodore Roosevelt, who won the Nobel peace prize in 1906 for his efforts in bringing to an end the Russo-Japanese war, gave his $40,000 to the Foundation for Promoting Industrial Peace.

LEWIS ALLEGES EFFORT TO CRUSH ORGANIZED LABOR

NEW YORK, March 23.—Charges that "big business and so-called Americanism organizations" of the country are engaged in a deliberate attempt to crush organized labor were made here today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Mr. Lewis' statement came at the close of a three day session of the mine owners and workers wage arbitration committee, which ended without any agreement which would halt the impending strike of 600,000 anthracite and bituminous miners April 1.

Agreement of miners and operators upon a wage scale for the 3,000 anthracite men who will maintain colliery properties while the strike is in progress was the sole result of today's session. This agreement was in the form of a contract stipulating that the 3,000 men shall receive the present scale while the strike is on, their wages for the strike period to be governed retroactively by the scale upon which settlement of the strike shall be based.

The committee of eight adjourned tonight to permit Mr. Lewis and the dozen anthracite chiefs chosen as district representative to attend a conference of the general policies committee of strike ways and means scheduled to begin at Cleveland tomorrow.

OPERATORS WILL GAIN BY DAUGHERTY ORDER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 23.—Attorney General Daugherty's warning to coal miners against violence during the strike set for April 1, was interpreted tonight by William Green, secretary treasurer of the United Mine Workers, as indicating, he said, that the forces of the government would be used against the strikers for the benefit of coal operators who, he added, constitute the only group which thus far has committed violence.

"SHIFTERS" HAVE FLIRT BADGES

NEW YORK, March 23.—"Flirtation badges," inviting advances from young men of the opposite sex, are part of the bait used by the society of shifters in its membership campaign among working girls. Miss Gertrude Robinson-Smith, of the vacation association of the city, today denounced the apparently headless flapper organization yesterday because its membership and initiation fee collections were preventing working girls from having as much money for vacation trips. Her denunciation of today's flappers, caused her to receive a net of insults against the "shifter" or the count that it was a promise to marry.

The shifters as organized among high school flappers at first was merely a high class game, Miss Robinson-Smith said. Properly, she said, the shifters were working up a million-dollar fund to pay a fee to the initiator, agree to present the initiator with a pair of silk stockings or some slight gift (she informed them) and then were to be informed that they were full fledged members and to go to work for a five week end and get their money back.

The cash was a pipe, she said, and in the lapel of the coat. But now, she said, there is a shifter dress, a shifter badge, and even a shifter badge known as the shifter badge. Miss Robinson-Smith said she had traced the shifters' movement to a jewelry store in Fifth avenue which issues the shifter pin, or flirtation badge, and dispenses copies of the "constitution" and by-laws of the organization, which she described as an organization of brother and sister love.

The prospective member of the shifters, she said, is asked to join a universal secret society to promote cordiality, particularly between the sexes, Miss Robinson-Smith said.

The society badge serves as an invitation to flirtation and intimacies, that self-respecting girls ordinarily would resent.

SENATE EXPECTS TO GET THE TARIFF BILL FROM FINANCE COMMITTEE BY APRIL FIRST

WASHINGTON, March 23.—With the important schedules except those dealing with wool and dyes practically completed, Republicans of the Senate Finance Committee are driving ahead in an effort to have the permanent tariff bill ready for the Senate by April 1, when the Senate will complete the wool and dye schedule by the end of the week.

Present expectations are that foreign valuation finally will be determined upon and that the bill will be changed in conference between the House and Senate to the American-made, in selling price of the imported articles.

General opinion at the Capitol appears to be that it will take at least two months to get the tariff measure through after it is called up. The leather schedule with its wool suit for a 15 per cent ad valorem duty on hides, is expected to cause a long contest. Other subjects which will be in controversy include sugar, lumber and long staple cotton and iron and steel. Fights over many lesser matters also are forecast.

Specific duties of $5 a dozen on men's leather gloves and $4 a dozen on men's leather gloves have been agreed upon, with a provision that the duty shall be not less than 60 nor more than 70 per cent ad valorem.

WANTS NAME OF INCOME TAXPAYERS FROM BLAIR

NEPHEW OF HOOVER DROWNED IN POOL

PALO ALTO, Calif., March 23.—Walter Large, five years old, nephew of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, was drowned today in a swimming pool at the Hoover home here during a family reunion. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University, worked over him three hours but hope finally was given up. Servants found the child unconscious in the swimming pool shortly before noon. It is not known how long he had been in the pool.

As a result of the accident, it was announced, Mr. Hoover will cancel his engagements to speak in San Francisco Friday and Saturday. The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie Large of Monterey.

DENIAL IS MADE BY YOUNG WOMAN

JACKSON, Miss., March 23.—Miss Frances Birkhead, who is suing Governor Lee M. Russell, for $100,000 damages and her attorney, Thomas H. Foster, of Jackson, Miss., the former by deposition and the latter by direct testimony by a legislative investigation committee, today denied allegations made by Governor Russell that the suit filed by the young woman was fostered, and abetted by what the governor called "outlandish" fire insurance interests.

Today's session of the committee, named by the House of Representatives to investigate the governor's charges, which also included allegations of "pernicious" lobbying and other activities on the part of the insurance concerns which withdrew from the state last year after the filing of anti-trust proceedings, is believed to have virtually completed the assembling of evidence by the committee and a report to the House is expected to be submitted within the next few days.

Miss Birkhead, in her deposition declared that at no time either before or after the filing of her suit several months ago did any insurance company representative consult with her or have a hand in the litigation in which she charges the governor with seduction. She gave her age as 25 years and her home New Orleans.

Both of her attorneys asserted that so far as they knew or had reason to believe, the charges made by Governor Russell were not true.

COTTON FIRM FAILS IN N. O.

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—Failure of the cotton brokerage firm of Shepard and Gluck with extensive wire connections throughout the South and Chicago and New York was announced on the floor of the cotton exchange here today. Accountants were tonight still checking over the firm's books and it was said it would probably be several days before the extent of the liabilities and assets were known.

Although the firm did an extensive business, the failure caused but little excitement on the local exchange. Prices fell off 10 points immediately following the announcement, but quickly recovered the loss.

Charles W. Shepard, a member of the floor, said the concern's accounts are more than ample to liquidate all debts. He attributed the fault to over-liberal granting of credit on margin contracts for speculation. Most of these accounts, which he declared as "frozen," are concerns and individuals outside of New Orleans.

Today's failure was the first one here in seven years, members of the cotton exchange said.

COXEY THREATENS ANOTHER MARCH

DETROIT, Mich., March 23.—General Jacob Coxey, of Massillon, Ohio, who led "Coxey's army" in the March on Washington in 1894 in the interest of economic legislation he sponsored announced today that he was planning to gather followers for another drive on the capitol in an effort, he said, to induce Congress to pass bills he has presented as offering aid in relieving unemployment.

Mr. Coxey said he has four bills in Congress and two more in preparation which will solve the economic problems of today if Congress will pass them.

ASSAILS SENATE TALK ON JAPAN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—America's peace no longer is menaced by Japanese militarism, a member of the United States Senate, Chester Foxworth, member of the California State Board of Education, said in an address tonight at a mass meeting called to urge ratification of the four-power treaty. "And the only reason the menace is not immediately serious is that the Japanese statesmen are intelligent enough to treat it as a bluff and to contempt it deserves," he added.

COAST PATROL ONLY HOPE TO STOP SMUGGLERS

By PAUL R. MALLON.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, March 23.—(United Press.)—The 20th century organization of modern smugglers—with airplanes, speed boats and racing automobiles—make up the minority of the vast army engaged in transporting liquor and aliens from foreign possessions to the Florida coast.

This class, working in conjunction with fishermen, having a supernatural knowledge of the Florida coast line and with personal animosity toward the 18th amendment, will continue to defy government efforts to thwart the booze smuggling traffic in South Atlantic waters until an enormous patrol system is set up against them, high government officials believe.

The proposed scheme for breaking up this huge conspiracy now being considered by officials includes:

1.—Establishment of a personal secret service system through which authorities might obtain "tips" on major smuggling operations.

2.—Organization, if possible, of an airplane, patrol boat and automobile patrol, to watch the more obvious "rat holes" along the coast.

3.—Modified appeals to foreign governments to require more strict enforcement of their customs invoice systems.

"But there are objections to all these proposed schemes," a section that now seems insurmountable, a government official in charge of this work told the United Press. "If we could obtain the sympathy of citizens in most of these South Atlantic coast towns so that they would give us reports of smuggling operations, we would have a good chance to stifle the traffic."

"Strange to say, this seems to be the only effective manner in which we can hope to enforce our law."

"Organization of a big patrol system which would be necessary would cost too much money. Congress would never consent to huge appropriations necessary to organize such a patrol system. If we can find some means of organizing this service without forcing a drain on the treasury—our chances of enforcement will be materially increased."

"As to the third proposal—the State Department now is considering the propriety of asking Britain and the Cuban governments for stricter enforcement of their invoice systems. We can hardly hope, however, for complete co-operation from countries that are not fully in sympathy with our law."

"We should like to fight these smugglers with their own weapons—but it is too costly. They have money to finance their operations while the government of the United States is not in a position where it can appropriate huge sums to break up the traffic now. Perhaps later the people will be so impressed with this defiance of law that they will demand setting up of a big patrol system."

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon denied that any airplanes had been brought into the service against smugglers.

GREENFIELD, Ind., March 23.—This whole region is eagerly awaiting the trial of Mrs. Clara Carl on a charge of slaying her early in May.

Prosecutor Wanda C. Geng hopes to prove at that trial that Mrs. Carl is a modern woman "Bluebeard."

Geng will charge that Mrs. Carl killed her husband and father-in-law with slow poison with the sordid aim of gaining for herself their petty fortunes.

But Mrs. Carl will maintain her innocence. Her attorneys say they will show her as a loving wife and devoted daughter-in-law, the innocent victim of an unusual train of circumstances.

Meanwhile Mrs. Carl, 38, attractive and well educated, peers from behind the bars of the Hancock county jail, following a formal charge of slaying against her by a Hancock county grand jury.

And Prosecutor Geng has caused the body of Robert Gibson, a former husband of Mrs. Carl, to be exhumed from a cemetery in Nelsonville, O., and the internal organs examined for traces of poison.

If the analysis shows poison, it may result in Mrs. Carl's being held for a third killing.

Here is the story of Mrs. Carl's life, as unacted by the authorities.

Mrs. Carl, whose maiden name was Clara Green, was the daughter of a New Straitsville (O.) farmer. Robert Gibson was the son of a New Straitsville florist and was a teacher in the village school.

Clara and Gibson were childhood sweethearts. On March 14, 1903, the two eloped and were wed. They moved to Cleveland, where Gibson continued teacher, and Clara became a newspaper writer.

Soon Clara and Gibson began traveling about from town to town, writing histories of the towns and selling the books by subscription.

Gibson went, unaccompanied by his wife, to Huntsville, Mo., on business. His wife, Clara, came to visit him.

Shortly after her arrival, the prosecutor charged Gibson was seized with an unusual illness and died.

In September of the same year,

Clara, now a widow, met Frank Carl at Seneca, Kans. They were married soon after.

Clara and Carl went to New Philadelphia, Ind., and made their home there. They invited Carl's father, Alonzo Carl, 85, to live with them. He accepted.

Shortly after his arrival at New Philadelphia the elder Carl became violently ill and died July 3, 1921.

Carl took his father's body to Hiawatha, Kans., where the father formerly had lived, for burial. Clara did not go.

Carl, the prosecutor says, had always been known as a man of perfect health and powerful physique.

But after his return from Hiawatha he became thin and pale, the prosecutor charged.

He continued to fail. His skin became drawn. He suffered cramps in the calves of his legs.

On August 7, 1921, Carl died.

A shower of letters poured in on authorities demanding an investigation of the mysterious deaths.

Examination of the bodies of Carl and his father, Prosecutor Geng declares, showed they contained enough arsenic to kill a dozen men.

The prosecutor charges Mrs. Carl poisoned the elder Carl that his small estate might be inherited by her husband, and then poisoned her husband that the estate might revert to her, together with $2,000 of fraternal order insurance and other possessions of Carl.

Mrs. Carl also secured $3,000 in life insurance from Gibson, her first husband, the prosecutor contends.

The nature of Gibson's death was identical with that of the deaths of Carl and his father, Geng now seeks to prove.

Asked for a statement at the Hancock county jail here, Mrs. Carl said: "I am not guilty of all this. I loved my family."

And Mrs. Carl's attorney added: "The woman is innocent. It will be shown that Alonzo Carl committed suicide, that Frank Carl died from natural causes, and that no crime was committed."

And the people around Greenfield, stirred by the weird case, await the trial's outcome.

WOULD MAKE IDLE LAND OWNERS PAY STREET CAR DEFICIT

SEATTLE, March 24.—Seattle will vote May 1 on the "Erickson Plan," which would cut street car fare on the many lines from 19 cents to 3 cents, levying a special tax on idle lands in the city to make up the deficit.

Councilman Oliver T. Erickson, the originator, says his plan will mean also better service, adequate financing to retire bonds and means of extension and improvements.

At present with 10-cent fare, the system nets barely enough to meet operating and maintenance costs and pay the interest on indebtedness.

Seattle purchased its street car system as a wartime necessity to insure adequate transportation for the shipyard workers. The price was $15,000,000.

Price Too High
"The big price paid has made adequate operation a serious problem," says Erickson. "This has given a black eye to many ownership all over the country."

"The plight of the street car system is a detriment to the whole city. The whole city must combine to remedy it."

Erickson's plan therefore puts on property owners the maintenance and operation of the system. Car riders, paying 3-cent fare, would redeem and pay interest on the $15,000,000 bond issue for the purchase, building in addition a $1,500,000 annual fund for extension and depreciation.

The campaign over the issue is keen. Opponents declare the plan is confiscatory; that it would take the homes of small property owners.

"We are already paying a high tax in car fares," Erickson retorts. "But two-thirds of Seattle's lots are vacant and held for speculation. They bear no share in this burden. Under my plan, owners of this land, now exempt, would have to help and the burden thus would be more evenly distributed."

Jail Breaking His Specialty
RICHMOND, March 23.—I will admit I am a jail breaker, but I will not admit I am a jail breaker who treats me properly and give me all of the rights of a prisoner. But I haven't been treated right here. They tell me I escape again all of the officials and workmen of this jail will lose their jobs. I should hate to see them fired, but I can't afford to stand back because of that."

It was Travis W. Mabry, alias H. L. Hunt, alias Clarence Mabry, and alias Clarence Mabry, alias a few others, speaking. Through the iron bars of his little cell in the city jail the youthful adventurer, whose greatest weakness is escaping as soon as the guardians of the peace and dignity of Virginia capture him, smiled and flung his defiance at his jailers.

"In an attempt to prevent my making a get-away, they have deprived me of some of the rights of a prisoner," Mabry was saying. "It is customary for a prisoner to be allowed to wear his own clothes until he is convicted. But they took mine. I came here with two suits, overcoats, collars, ties and the other accessories. They took them all and gave me these."

"How did I earn the sobriquet, 'Houdini of the Bastille' Well, I learned to escape merely by closely observing my jailers. I got away from the Richmond jail last November in exactly 20 minutes. I saved the bars to my cell and the window and pushed out the grating in half an hour."

Virginians Voted Against Bonus

By GEORGE H. MANNING.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The eight Democratic congressmen from Virginia voted solidly in the House today against the soldier bonus bill, which was passed, 233 to 70. Congressman Slomp, Republican, voted for it.

None of the Virginia members made speeches. Congressmen Harrison, of Winchester, who voted for the bill when it was passed by the House two years ago, voted against it today, along with Congressmen Woods, Moore, Montague, Deal, Bland, Hooker and Dr. Ewry.

Harry St. George Tucker, who was elected to Congress Wednesday to take the seat made vacant by the death of Congressman Flood, came into the House shortly before the vote was taken. But as his certificate of election had not arrived and he had not been sworn in he was unable to vote. Mr. Tucker shared the views of his Democratic colleagues in opposition to the soldier bonus.

Receiving word that Mr. Tucker was on his way to Washington to take his seat, Congressman R. Walton Moore, of Fairfax, suggested to Republican House Leader Mondell that Tucker be allowed to be sworn in and take his seat and vote on the bonus bill in the absence of his election certificate. Mr. Mondell asked how Mr. Tucker stood on the bonus and when advised he was opposed to it said that Friday would be early enough for the new member to be admitted.

The Virginia Democrats opposed the bonus bill on the ground that it will not be a good thing in the long run for either the veterans, the government, or the people. That it will fill the banks with frozen credits, clog the wheels of industry and retard the general return of industry to normal.

They printed today the declarations of the platforms of the last national Democratic convention and the last Virginia Democratic convention which directly opposed the soldier bonus. On that point the Virginia Democratic platform reads: "The federal government should treat with the utmost generosity every disabled soldier of the world war, whether his disability be due to wounds, received in action, or to health impaired in service; and for the dependents of the brave men who died in line of duty, the government's tenderest concern and richest bounty should be their reward. But we deplore stimulated efforts to fasten further oppressive burdens upon the taxpayers of the country by enormous bond issues or consumption and retroactive tax levies to give an indiscriminate bonus to enlisted men—thousands of whom themselves repel the idea of having their unselfish service appraised in terms of pecuniary reward. The fine patriotic exploits, the heroic conduct displayed by American soldiers at home and abroad, constitute a sacred heritage of posterity, the worth of which can never be recompensed from the treasury and the renown of which should never be diminished by dross."

The national Democratic platform's declaration on the bonus is practically a duplicate of the Virginia platform, as Senator Carter Glass drafted the major part of both platforms.

COAST WONDERS WHAT M'ADOO WILL RUN FOR

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—(United Press.)—Will Wm. G. McAdoo go to the 1914 Democratic National Convention with the solid votes of the Pacific Coast States backing him for president?

These and a lot of other political questions have resulted from McAdoo's announcement that he would give up his New York voting residence and move to Southern California.

The college professors and students of politics are asking other questions. McAdoo moves to California. W. J. Bryan takes his residence to Florida and makes it known that he would look with lenient eye on any action toward forcing the United States Senatorship on him.

Many political observers profess to believe that the United States is coming around to the English system of elections, whereby the candidate for political office picks out whatever district in England he likes, and offers himself for election there. Only in the United States such politician would have to gain a legal residence.

In the 1920 Democratic Convention, many Democrats now believe McAdoo might have won had his own state been solidly behind him. It is kind of foolish in conventions that if the delegates in a man's own state are not solid for him, he is a good man to leave alone.

While McAdoo is commonly reputed to be still nursing his presidential ambitions, it is nevertheless pointed out that a seat in the Senate might be his second choice. If so, McAdoo's ambitions are dated several years away—1922, to be exact. He has not established residence in time to enter the 1922 lists against Senator Hyman Johnson. In 1920 Senator Samuel Shortridge will come up for re-election. And meantime there is the 1924 presidential campaign to be waged.

That McAdoo will greatly strengthen the Democratic forces in the state is not to be denied. In Southern California particularly a strong Democratic leader has been lacking for some time. Southern California is somewhat of a political enigma. It is nominally Republican, but very much of the independent or Progressive-Republican brand.

It is impossible to predict at present whether or not Johnson will be opposed in the another matter. The but we doubt that any one strong enough to give him a race would risk his political chances in such a contest.

How he will fare in the November elections against a strong Democratic opponent is another matter. The Democrats would like to see a Johnson-anti-Johnson split in the Republican party, but do not believe they can cause this.

Who will oppose Johnson is a matter of speculation. The most likely prospect, it is believed, is former Senator James D. Phelan, who was defeated by Shortridge in the 1920 landslide. Phelan ran far ahead of his ticket, and many Democrats give him more than a chance. Phelan is an extremely independent Democrat. He was a reservationist on the League of Nations vote. He is at present in Japan, making a study of conditions there, and has sent back no word concerning his attitude. On the other hand many Democrats are urging him as a candidate for governor against William O. Stephens, incumbent.

The other most likely candidate is Gavin McNab, Speaker of the Democratic House of the State, who has recently been much in the public eye as counsel for Mary Pickford and Roscoe Arbuckle. McNab was offered a position on the Shipping Board during the Wilson administration, but refused it. Many of McNab's friends doubt that he would be willing to enter a campaign as strenuous as that which a contest with Johnson would entail. McNab has issued a statement that he won't run, but his advocates say other men have changed their minds.

5,587 DEATHS ON U. S. RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, March 23.—American railroad operation last year resulted in the accidental death of 5,587 persons, and the injury, more or less serious of 43,324, according to compilations made public today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This was, however, a decrease under the totals reported for 1920, when 6,457 persons were accidentally killed and 52,780 injured.

Are you too old to break a habit?

by Mrs. Mary Preston
Cooking Expert and Food Analyst

The sales-manager of The Heekin Company and I are really awfully good friends, but we do argue frighfully.

The other day we were talking about habit. The sales-manager said that women are slaves of habit where baking powder is concerned. He said that all women used either the brands their mothers used, or the brands they first tried themselves. And he said they were afraid to change.

"Then he said, 'After any woman reaches a certain age, she's so set in her habits, that she won't change any of them.'"

Now, I'm not terribly young, but I certainly consider myself progressive. I'll leave it to you—are you too old to try a superior baking powder that saves you money? Are you too old to change to a baking powder that is guaranteed to make your baking successful? The baking powder I mean is Heekin's.

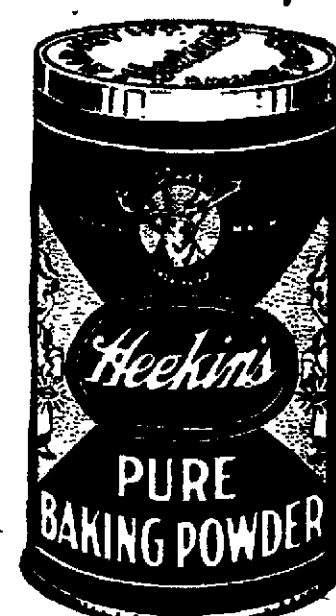

I know that a better baking powder cannot be made. I have baked with it, and so have my assistants. We have never had one failure where Heekin's was used. I have analyzed it—no purer baking powder can be made. (There are no foreign ingredients added to Heekin's to create an unnatural effervescence or to give a false impression of quality.) And Heekin's costs much less than any other that even approaches it in quality.

As I told the sales-manager, if we simply tell all women how wonderful Heekin's is—that any woman will get excellent results with it; that it is the favorite with thousands of women—then every woman will be eager to try it.

And, just read this guarantee: If you bake anything—using Heekin's—that doesn't turn out to your entire satisfaction, list the ingredients in whatever you bake, their prices, and the price of the baking powder, and the total amount will be sent you by The Heekin Company, Cincinnati, Ohio. There is no red tape to this offer. Simply send the list and your name and address.

Buy a can today and try it. You'll like Heekin's.

Mrs. Mary Preston

5 INDICTMENTS AGAINST JONES ARE NOT PROSECUTED

DANVILLE, S. C., March 23.—A nol prosequi was entered today in each of the five indictments against Charles D. Jones, lawyer, banker and former president of the Lancaster Mercantile company, in which he was charged with breach of trust and misappropriation of funds of the mercantile company.

The action was taken on motion of State Solicitor J. K. Henry, of Charleston, who stated in court that he had known the true facts prior to the trial on one of the indictments which resulted in a mistrial early today. He would not have permitted the trial at this time of court.

The solicitor's action, which clears the court record of all criminal phases of the controversy between Jones and others of the Lancaster Mercantile company, followed Judge Bowman's action in ordering a mistrial after the jury, following about nine hours in deliberation, reported that it was "hopelessly disagreed."

The final chapter in the criminal case against Jones was written at a session of court lasting but a few minutes this morning, after the jury had been discharged.

Solicitor Henry stated in court that the entering of a nol prosequi in the cases were "without prejudice," and would not bar prosecution later on new indictments, but later in the day stated positively that today's action ends the State's connection with the controversy and the prosecution, so far as the present indictments are concerned.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A woman in Lynn, Mass., was steeping herbs on her kitchen stove according to a recipe of her own, to furnish medicine for the women of the neighborhood. Today, a stone's throw from the little house where she lived, there is a four-story laboratory, making the same medicine for the women of the world. During the last year almost 500 tons of carefully selected herbs were used in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A woman's medicine for woman's ailments. Have you tried it?

CHANGES MIND ABOUT GOING AWAY

"Five years ago doctors told me I would have to move my wife to another climate, as she suffered so with stomach and liver trouble and bloating. Also, that she would have to have an operation for gall stones. Our mail carrier told me of May's Wonderful Kidney and, on his advice, she has taken it and is now as well as ever in her life." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhs, mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. C. McFall's Drug Store, Trent Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.—adv.

KIWANIS GIVEN INVITATION TO ATTEND TALKS

A large number of Kiwanians were in attendance at yesterday's luncheon at the Burton, and the noon hour was well taken up with matters of business, and the ever important business of eating. Jimmy Hamlin presided and conducted a brief and smooth running program.

Mr. Wiseman, president of the Rotary Club, was present and extended an invitation to all Kiwanians to attend the series of addresses to be given in Danville April 3rd, under the auspices of the Rotary Club, by Dr. Chas. E. Barker, of Grand Rapids, Mich., a speaker of national prominence. Mr. Wiseman's invitation was accepted in a gracious speech by the president of the Kiwanis Club.

By unanimous consent the Kiwanis Club agreed to furnish the superintendent's office of the Hill Top Sanitarium, which will be done in good style, and the Kiwanis emblem placed upon the door. M. B. Ramos, Jr., was given the privilege of the floor and spoke in behalf of the coming festival of the Danville Choral Society in conjunction with the Philadelphia Orchestra. At the conclusion of his remarks, a paper was circulated and a large number of Kiwanis members entered their names guaranteeing amounts from $25 to $100 each, assuring the success of the festival. It is estimated that the Kiwanis Club will furnish more than one-fourth of the $6,000 guarantee necessary to secure the contract with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

A matter of interest to all Danville citizens will be the placing of signs advertising Danville on all roads leading to the city. Lee A. Wilson heads the Kiwanis Committee that will leave Danville next Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, in several automobiles to erect the signs. More than 50 signs will be placed in the surrounding countryside.

NEGRO FOUND ON STREET, EXPIRES

Walter Withers, an aged negro, who was found half paralyzed and suffering from exposure on the lower end of Wilson street early on Wednesday morning, died early yesterday morning at Providence hospital where he was removed on Wednesday morning.

The old negro developed a form of pneumonia as a result of remaining out in the cold air of Tuesday and he sank rapidly throughout Wednesday night. He was about 75 years of age, and many years ago was a member of the police force.

EDISON SENDS PROTEST ON PROFESSOR'S SLUR

MADISON, Wis., March 23.—Thomas A. Edison has transmitted to members of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin copies of correspondence between him and Professor W. A. Scott of the university, with the suggestion that the professor's letters were discourteous.

From the correspondence it appears that Edison's recent questionnaire on financial subjects, notable in which was the implication that stored commodities were as sound a basis for paper money as gold reserve, was sent to the professor, but elicited no reply, so that Edison wrote to the professor again and urged him to answer the questions, wherever they were. The professor replied, disparaging the questionnaire, and intimating that Edison lacked instruction in elementary principles.

"It is my belief, however," said Professor Scott, "that any good teacher, or any good elementary text book, on the subject of money, would answer the most fundamental of your queries."

"I confess that I find it difficult to understand how a man like yourself, if he has seriously studied any of the literature of the subject, can seriously ask such a question. They have no money after the lack of comprehension of the A B C of the subject, and I should be compelled to ask you to clear setting forth of the very nature of the subject, and to be able to answer the most elementary questions."

Edison and what seems to be a very correct state of mind, is shown by his letter, in which he intimates that the professor's questionnaire was a slur on his intelligence.

Members of the Board of Regents, who have expressed the opinion that the professor's questionnaire was a slur on Edison's intelligence, are adding that they are inclined to regard the questionnaire as a slur on the intelligence of the entire faculty.

Mrs. Howell's death was a great loss to the literary community. She was a woman of great talent and a dedicated professional.

THREE WITNESSES TELL OF BANKER'S LIQUOR DEALINGS

MIAMI, Fla., March 23.—Three government witnesses today corroborated the testimony of William Spillard, a prohibition agent, given yesterday at the preliminary hearing of C. M. Clayton, vice-president of the Miami National bank, and four others charged with conspiracy to violate the Volstead law. Clayton, with Foster Sloan, Mrs. G. O. Harrison, W. C. Phelps and T. N. Lewis, is alleged to have been a party to a deal for the purchase of 100 cases of liquor for $4,950, by Spillard, posing as "A. B. Phillips," a New York bootlegger.

Salvatore Pacetta, a member of the government's flying squadron, on the stand related the story practically as told by Spillard. He said he was with Spillard when Clayton wrote the agreement for the purchase of the "commodities" which, he said, were verbally understood to be liquors. He told of the visit to Clayton's home after the liquor was produced and the alleged return of the money to federal agents after the exposure.

E. B. Henson, chief of the flying squadron, gave a detailed story, supporting both Spillard and Henson. Henson said that he went to Clayton's home with Agent Overbeck on the night the liquor was brought in after the others had left and told the banker that he was a federal official and demanded the money. Clayton, he said, asked for leniency and finally turned over the $4,950, which had been deposited with him as the purchase price for the liquor.

Overbeck, following Henson on the stand and substantiated his story.

The defense indicated at the hearing that it would attempt to have the case dismissed on the ground that federal agents had used assumed names and induced others to violate the law, in defiance of a Florida statute.

PEACE IN ASIA IS DISCUSSED

PARIS, March 23.—The question of peace in Asia Minor again today took on the greater part of the conference of the foreign ministers of Great Britain, France and Italy, who appear to be going ahead in confidence that the Greeks and Turkish nationalists will accept the armistice terms proposed in the communication dispatched yesterday to the capitals. It was decided to ask Marshal Foch and other allied military experts to give their opinion on a plan prepared by the military experts of Constantinople for the eventual evacuation of Asia Minor conditioned upon acceptance by the Turks of the general peace conditions to be fixed later.

ELKS ENDORSE MAY FESTIVAL

The Elks' club in session last night endorsed the May Festival, which is scheduled for May 2 and 3. When the matter of endorsement was brought to the attention of the order a number of the members made enthusiastic speeches favoring the proposal and after a brief discussion the lodge went on endorsing the scheme. A number of Elks have already signed up as guarantors.

HOUSE CONTINUES TO IGNORE HARDING

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The broad hints Congress gave at the White House yesterday that President Harding objected to certain features of pending measures which appears to interfere with the President's Constitutional functions, apparently has made no impression on the House, at least. Today the House showed every intention of adopting provisions in the pending army bill distasteful to the President because they trespass, according to his view, on the authority vested in him as Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy.

As the situation stands, Congress is bent on making a record of economy on which to go before the people in the Congressional election this year. There is a disposition on Capitol Hill to ignore the recommendations of the President and members of the cabinet, who have recommended a course of retrenchment with a provision of a sweeping slashing of public expenditures. In order to make the House live up to the provisions for economy, Republican leaders in the House have adopted the course of cutting the money appropriation and the use of public money appropriated is not questioned by the Administration as a general proposition, but the President has strong views on the view that where the money is spent, how he shall spend it, is a matter of his right as Commander-in-Chief.

Bring Back The "Barefoot Boy" Says Burbank

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—(United Press).—The same care and treatment necessary to bring plant life to its greatest development, is necessary to child life. If the human race is to be brought to its highest development.

That is the opinion of Luther Burbank, "plant wizard," who made his views known in an interview with the United Press.

"All animal life is sensitive to environment, but of all living things the child is the most sensitive. In the course of my many years of investigation into the plant life of the world, creating new forms, this thought in relation to children has always been uppermost in my mind.

"Surroundings act upon a child as the outside world acts on the plate of a camera. Every possible influence will leave its impress upon the child, even overcoming heredity.

"A child literally absorbs environment. It is the most susceptible thing in the world to influence. The life of a child can be practically moulded by the influences with which it comes in contact.

"I make a plea for the revival of the barefoot boy—the boy who knows and loves nature. I must enter a most earnest protest against beginning education at the kindergarten age.

"No boy or girl should be permitted to see the inside of a schoolhouse until he is at least 10 years of age. I am speaking now of the boy or girl who has the privilege of being reared in the only place that is truly fit to bring up a boy or a plant—the country, the small town—the nearer nature the better.

"In the case of children born in the city and compelled to live there, the temptations are so great, the life so artificial, the atmosphere so like that of a hot-house, that such a child should be placed in school earlier as a matter of safeguard.

"Not only would I have a child reared for the first 10 years of its life in the open, in close touch with nature—a barefoot boy with all the physical stamina that applies—but also I would have him reared in love.

"I believe that the wave of public dishonesty which seems to be sweeping over the country is chiefly due to the lack of proper training—breeding, if you please—in the formative years of life.

"Be honest with the child. Countenance dishonesty in word, look or deed, and you have started a grafter. Nor can you be dishonest with your child in thought. The child reads your motives as no other human being reads them.

Keep the child out of doors. He will learn valuable lessons from nature, and nature's God. Shun early education in the academic sense as you would shun a plague.

"Pick out any trait which you may desire in a normal child, honesty, fairness, purity, loveableness, industry, thrift, what not, by surrounding the child with sunshine from the open sky and from your heart, giving it free communion with nature, and well balanced nutritious food, and you can endow it for all its life with these traits.

There may be a struggle at first, for heredity will make itself felt. As in the plant, there will be strong tendencies to reversion to former ancestral traits. But by patience, persistence, and wise guidance through these formative years, you may fully attain the desired object.

"And if you have endowed one generation with this character half the battle will be won."

DEATH OF MRS. VIPPERMAN

The death occurred at 4:15 p. m. yesterday at her home, 430 Union street, and Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Vipperman, who succumbed after an illness of several weeks' duration. She was a native of Mayberry, Va., being born November 4th, 1860.

The funeral will be held at 3:30 p. m. today from the home of Rev. J. L. Wilson. Interment will be made in Leemont cemetery.

Fordson TRACTOR

"The Tractor will enable the farmer to work fewer hours in the day, giving him more time to enjoy life. I believe the tractor will make farming what it ought to be —the most pleasant, the most healthful, the most profitable business on earth."

This tractor has done much—very much—in bringing true Mr. Ford's prophecy; for in it is a machine which has harnessed one of the most dependable, efficient, adaptable, economical sources of power in the world—
a machine that saves from thirty to fifty per cent of the farmer's time—a machine which many farmers claim plows, harrows or drills as much ground in the same time as four, six or even eight horses. And more —a machine that takes care of every power job on the farm.

Call and let's talk it over, or telephone or drop us a card and we will bring the facts to you.

We can supply auto and truck license.
